Very bad addon. If i could, i would request my money back.. As the mysterious and powerful "Guardian of Earth" your steely eye and HYPER-POWERED LASER ARM have kept the citizens of Earth safe for generations (as well as proving a hit with the ladies).

With all your awesome TALENT and FLAIR, surely it would be IMPOSSIBLE for a devastating invasion of Doom Beasts to descend on your cities and cause havoc without your knowledge? (Even if you were MAYBE showboating for a magazine photo-shoot at the time...)

Now, you must not only defend your cities from the ravenous hordes of Doom Beasts - you must defend yourself against accusations of gross incompetence from the Galactic Council of Justice! And this is all BEFORE you can even start to get to the bottom of just who OR what is really behind the attacks.... An underrated FPS from the late 90s, with great level design and atmosphere. Hard as F*ck though.

NOTE: Make sure you rob people after you kill them.. Would rather buy WinRAR.... Never has a game A.I. felt so unbalanced.. I don't remember buying this. Of course I don't recommend it!. Completely different feeling from the first Chapter, but equally as scary, if not more. In this one, you're visiting a patient in an asylum who has been inhabited by an evil entity. Everything is pretty normal- investigate, discover artifact (if you can), read about the patient.... and then things go batsh crazy. I took a break midway through because it was I was physically shaking. This is horror. Fantastic.

Got this as part of the bundle, but for $4.99 absolutely worth it.

CAN NOT WAIT FOR CHAPTER 3. Hurry up Devs!!!!. Pretty♥♥♥♥♥♥♥♥. I seriously had no idea i own this coil of steaming♥♥♥♥♥♥♥♥ Diprip right into your fat chubby crabapple. You know when you watch a movie and you wonder why one bad guy is attacking at a time? You'll never ask yourself that question in Crisis VRigade. The bad guy you are shooting at will duck for cover, and his cronies will keep you pinned down under a hail ov gunfire.

The game begins by dropping you off in front of a bank behind a police car. Immediately you have to fight back against the bad guys who are out in the open and hidden in cover. When you clear the level out, you are presented a target to shoot which will then take you to your next position. Rinse and repeat...I think. I have only made it to the third level, and that is on easy.

You can only be shot three times before you die (I have not seen any health upgrades yet, if they exist), and have the ability to temporarily upgrade your weapons using powerups.

I'm looking forward to playing this game all weekend!

The Tommy Gun eats ammo like an obese American family eats a Chinese buffet, the Buzzsaw Bow is pretty fun, the Scythe is freaking amazing, and the Flare Revolver is pretty different. Not worth 8 bucks, but that's just my opinion.. This game might not seem like much, but the concept of conquering land to encircle your enemies to defeat them is quite unique and fun.. Created a steam account just to buy this game. Love it.. and the World ranking system is going to make for some great competition. The game play is very addictive. The music and sound effects are great. and the graphics are awesome. Its a smashup of old school retro gaming with a modern flashy polish! Great work... Hah current world ranking is #6. Better watch out #1 I'm coming for you!. I literally used the Inquisition building once, and it didn't even work properly. Never used it ever again.. Fun little asteroids type achievement hunter game. the 50 or so cents you'll pay for it on sale is well worth the price imo for an hour or two of amusement.. Note: This is a guide AND review. If you don't want a full guide, just skip this review and go to a different one. And if buying this game, please read the full review! I want to you have a good experience in this game.

So, if you want this game, I want to tell you, there are some downsides and tricky controls. I do recommend this game only if you know the controls, so I will tell you them. First off, moving V walking. To those players, this game is not available with arrow keys. Arrows keys (and the mouse) move the camera. Use W A S D to walk V drive around. Now, to getting V making a car. When you are at a door of an editor, you want to press E on the orange dot. This brings you inside the editor. Now, look at all of these buttons! What do I do? There's so many! First, you should go and press the vehicles V files button. This is at the top left corner of the screen. It looks like a folder. Read the captions while hovering your mouse over them, and you'll find it. Now click it. There should be some cars in it already. Click one of your desired vehicles, and click the "open" button. Now, you want to press the button at the top right corner of the screen that looks like a Lego car. Now, you have spawned a car. Go and drive around to get the feel of this vehicle. If you don't like it, just repeat what I said earlier.

Now to editor controls.

So, I've already told you about getting a car, walking around, driving etc. Now you should try building a car. First, you should go to the 1s V flat brick folder at the left side of the editor. It should show a 4x(something) plate. Get the longest one (not flat, keeping the studs). Now, to paint it, there is a white box thing at the right side of the editor. Click that and choose a colour. Now, get out of the 4x(something) folder and go to axles. It should show a Lego styled axle as the folder picture. Choose a 2x4 axle. It's like your average 4 stud long 2 stud wide Lego brick, but shorter. Put that somewhere on the plate you placed at first, and press C once you place that one. Now since you have pressed C, it copied that axle brick. Move that other axle brick to the back of the base plate. Now, the tricky part. Making the axles work. Just keep the original coding on for now, but make sure theres an arrow on each axle facing the other blue arrow in front of the base plate. Select the front axle, and click the steering angle thing. Type in 35 or 45. I prefer 35, but you can go as high V low as you want. Now, choose an engine. Once again, get out of the axles folder, and click a thing that looks like an engine. Choose an engine, and place it somewhere on the base. Then, get out of that folder, and go to the wheels folder. Choose a wheel, rotate it, and put it on every axle (more controls will be at the bottom of this). Then, go into the controls folder. It looks like a seat. Get a seat (make sure it doesn't say passenger seat), and put it on your base. Now, spawn it. Congrats! Your first working vehicle. If you want it to look like a car, I'll give you some controls down below.

Rotating a brick: W A S D Q E. Moving a brick up and down: Shift button and W V S. Rotating a brick very faintly: Shift button and A D Q E.

To save a vehicle you made, click another button at the top left corner of your screen. This one looks like a door. Make sure while hovering over it it says something about saving the current vehicle.

Respawning a vehicle: CTRL and C at the same time, or pressing the delete V backspace button. Making a vehicle invincible V godmoding it: CTRL and G at the same time. Using freecamera: F to go into freecamera mode, W A S D Q E for moving the camera (including mouse to move camera). Spawning a vehicle in freecamera: Spacebar.

I hope this review was helpful for you!. Grade: 80/100

Difficulty: Moderate. Most of the controls are easy, and you can't die. But certain places require precise timing and angles -- that makes it a little harder to accomplish a few goals.

Pros: Despite being a simple game, it's very pretty to look at. The various objectives are a pleasant challenge.

Cons: You will need a guide/walkthrough to finish all of the achievements unless you have an incredible streak of dumb luck.

Replayable: Not likely after completing all of the challenges, but certainly fun the first time through.. Riptide Renegade is a racing game where you control a hydrojet. Tracks are equipped with lot of trampolines which you can use to jump into an air to make stunts. As you make stunts, you gain boost points, which can be expanded for a short speed burst.

The game has a story: you play as a racer who was set up and spent two years in prison for illegal racing, and now wants his revenge. As you progress through the story, you unlock new pilots and new hydrojets.

As you race, you gain money, which you can spend to improve your hydrojet performance, and skill points, which you can spend to unlock new better stunts.

There are may be around 7 tracks I think, which serves well for a story mode, but may be not really sufficient for online play; and 4 game modes - race; elimination, where last racer is eliminated each 15 seconds; slalom, which replaced time trial of previous installment I think, and is too simple actually; and freestyle, where you gain points for stunts, and which I personally hate. All this makes enough variation to be fun.

The physics is based on Bullet engine, I think - at least it was in previous installment - and is very good, though not particularly realistic. You can see it as some mix between simulation and arcade, which actually is lot of fun. In this installment, you can go underwater; there were also implemented rogue waves which you can use as trampolines as well.

I want to specifically address difficulty issue which receives mixed reception in reviews. The game starts very easy, you could win even if you crash into something and fall. The middle of the story has medium difficulty, where you can beat opponents if you roughly understand what you're doing. The endgame is really difficult - you need to have a fully upgraded hydrojet, any mistake eliminates your chances, and you probably need a little luck as well. This is not a casual game which you can beat in a workday by any means, but it is not a core simulation game like professional racing sim either.

Visuals are very good, you will see splashes of water on your camera. If you dive in the water, the view is changed accordingly. It is raining on some stages. The game lost the sparkly feeling of a holiday, though, which I am a little disappointed about.

The only annoying feature is a police on some stages; storyline-wise it is supposed to prevent pilots from racing, but it will only go after you, which is a bit annoying. Police is really easy to avoid though, and sometimes it can even be used to your advantage. Luckily, the most complex stages do not have police.

Sound is very good, engines are realistic, you can deduce distance from opponents by the sound of their engines. The music is a bit disappointing. I mean it is okay, but nothing memorable. GP2 had better soundtrack overall.

The game is a sequel to Riptide GP2, so some comparison is in order. I can't say it is an upgrade; to be honest, I liked GP2 more, but I still believe you should buy Renegade if you have GP2. If you don't, buy both, they worth playing.. Just a gankbox ... might be fun if you were playing with a large group of friends or guild or something... runs pretty well, handles slightly awkwardly but does the job I suppose ... worth trying for the free trial to see if it's your thing, but it wasn't for me.
